Numb. 5799

The London Gazette.

Published by Authority.

From Saturday November 14. to Tuesday November 17. 1719.

Berne, November 15.

A Numerous Deputation from the Canton of Glaris arrived lately at Zurich, to confer with that Canton about their Differences with their Subjects of the County of Werdenberg. Those of Zurich, as neareſt Neighbours, being choſen Mediators in this Conteſt, it is not doubted but ſome Expedient will be found for accommodating that Matter. The Diſorder that has lately happened at Bienne, has been newly increaſed by the unlucky Accident of a Man's being ſhot by a Centinel of that Town a little out of the Gates; and as the Perſon killed is a Subject of this Canton, it has made a great Noiſe here, and is likely to cool the Zeal which was before expreſſed in favour of Bienne. This State has ordered a ſtrict Enquiry to be made concerning the Murther of their Subject. It is expected here that the French Ambaſſadour will ſoon make ſome publick Propoſals to the Proteſtant Cantons concerning the Renewal of the Alliances with that Crown.

Copenhagen, Nov. 14. The King of Denmark went from hence this Morning to Fredericksbourg, where he intends to continue two or three Days. The Ceſſation of Arms and Freedom of Commerce which through the Mediation and good Offices of His Majeſty of Great Britain has been lately agreed upon between this Crown and that of Sweden, was publiſhed here on Wedneſday the 8th Inſtant with the uſual Solemnity, and Orders were given for its being likewiſe publiſhed in all the other Towns of the Dominions of this Crown. We have an Account by our Letters from Stockholm, that it was in like manner proclaimed there by a Herald at Arms, with Sound of Trumpet and other Formalities practiſed on ſuch Occaſions, and that Orders had alſo been iſſued there for Publiſhing it throughout the Swediſh Dominions. Our laſt Advices from Sir John Norris are of the 2d Inſtant, at which Time he was ſtill detained at Elſenap by contrary Winds.

Paris, Nov. 22. We are hourly expecting the Marſhal Berwick's final Reſolution touching the Siege of Roſes. The laſt Letters from the Army commanded by him are of the 11th Inſtant: The Marſhal had then ſome Hopes that he ſhould be able to ſupply his chief Wants, viz. of Carriages for his Artillery, from the Ships; and of Cannon Ball, from the Wreck of a Convoy which was caſt away near Roſes when the Duke of Vendome made the firſt Siege of Barcelona; the laſt Storm having flung off the Sand, and diſcovered a great Quantity of thoſe Cannon Ball. The Marſhal had actually ſent away before the 11th, 36 Squadrons of his Horſe, which began to ſuffer extremely for want of Forrage, but he then reckoned that he would be able to make the Siege with his Foot. We have Advice from Italy, that the Imperialiſts have taken la Scaletta and all the other Poſts in the Neighbourhood of Meſſina: And that a Body of Germans was imbarking for Palermo.

Dublin, Nov. 10. Upon Advice from England of the late Duke of Ormond's being at Sea, with ſome Spaniſh Ships and Land Forces, intending probably to make an Attempt on this Kingdom; his Grace the Duke of Bolton made all proper Diſpoſitions for our Security, and the whole Body of Horſe and Dragoons, and four entire Regiments of Foot are ſo cantoned, that they may be drawn together near Athlone on the firſt Notice of any Attempt of the Enemy to land. This has obliged his Grace to defer his Departure for England ſome Days. Lieutenant General Macartney, and Brigadier Bowles arrived here Yeſterday.

Whitehall, Nov. 16. On Friday laſt about Eleven in the Morning His Majeſty imbarked on the Carolina Yacht at Helvoetſluys: